Xerox Transfer Workshop with Artist Alicia Hunsicker

I will hold a Xerox Transfer Workshop on Sunday, July 14th from 1:00 to 4:00 PM at Town Hall. This workshop is available for eight to ten participants from Leyden, ages 16 and up. Please email me at mahunsicker@netzero.net if you are interested.

I will teach workshop participants about a variety of Xerox transfer processes and the different ways they can be applied in creating paintings or other kinds of art. I will demonstrate the process I use in creating my work. Participants will then be walked through the process as they create their own. Participants will leave with at least one Xerox transfer work of art on heavy archival paper, a materials list and written directions for future projects. This workshop will last approximately three hours.

Topics covered include how to use digital technology to create an image, materials and multiple usage explanation, how to apply the xerox onto a variety of surfaces, how to seal the image and layer for use as a painting, and painting techniques in acrylic and oil for use with the xerox transfer method.

This project is sponsored in part by a grant from the Leyden Local Cultural Council, a local agency that is supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency.

What Leyden is Reading

In 1913, at an Armory in Manhattan, works by Cezanne, Picasso, and many other “modern” artists featuring cubism and abstraction were revealed to the American public. The reporters who covered the show were shocked and called it a “circus of freaks and clowns.” The MoMA web site writes, “1913 is a particularly important year within the history of modern art marked by events and objects that would fundamentally change the way art was conceived and understood.”

Adults can learn more by looking up ‘Culture Shock 1913’ on a computer search engine. Families can also visit Leyden’s little library and check out “No One Saw” and other books by Bob Raczka. A day trip to a museum would be a real great treat! There are many fabulous art museums an hour (or less) away. What style of art do you like the best?

Mass Beer Tour comes to Leyden

What started as a trivia question about naming the towns in Massachusetts has now turned into a pledge for Todd Ruggere of Grafton to drink a beer in each of the 351 towns in Massachusetts by the end of 2013. Calling it the “Mass Beer Tour,” at each stop Todd gives the opportunity for folks to make a donation to Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. So far, Todd has raised over $21,000 in 154 towns.

Todd will stop in Leyden on Friday, June 14th. Since we have no restaurants or bars, you’re all invited to Angels’ Rest to toast with Todd the good work of Dana-Farber’s children’s cancer research. Additionally, Jeff Guy, one of the head brewers at Lefty’s Brewing Company in Greenfield (and member of the Leyden Fire Department) will present a beer sampling of several of Lefty’s brews. He will answer any questions about the brewing operation and share information about the company.

Library Hours: Monday 1:00 – 6:00 PM; Wednesday 1:00 – 6:00 PM, and
Phone 773-9334 (Leave a message any time.)

Thanks again to Trueman Robbins for his gift of wood chips for the flower beds and stones to rebuild the crumbling wall adjacent to the cellar entrance. He and Tucker worked hard on a cold, blustery April day to get this place in order!

Author visit at PRES – The library brought author Amy Gordon to PRES on April 23 and 24. Working with first- and second-graders during her first visit, Amy discussed her novel “Star Baby” and engaged students in some creative writing of their own. On the second day, Amy spent the morning with fifth- and sixth-graders discussing “Gorillas of Gill Park”, a story filled with rich characters and exciting challenges for the protagonist. Each of these students completed a story employing numerous strategies for effective creative writing.

Thank you to both the Leyden Cultural Council and the Foundation for Educational Excellence for supporting us and for bringing Amy to PRES! The PVRSD purchased multiple copies of each novel so that each student was able to read along with the teacher and analyze text as they discussed their novel.

More than a recipe book – Ginny Rockwood and Lois Feldman have created a masterpiece. This book is a fund-raiser for the library and contains not only scrumptious recipes but Leyden history, great pictures, and more. This collector’s item is not yet ready, but it will be soon.

History of Leyden – Higginson Publishers is willing to sell us copies at a reduced price of $30, so sign up ASAP, as I’d like to place an order soon.

100th Birthday Party – Comments about the big party included: “Last night was fabulous! It was great fun to see so many Leydenites! You chose events that were fitting to a celebration of 100 years of the library, but also displayed the talents hidden in the hills. Wonderful!” and “I’ve not been to an event at Town Hall that brought so many people out in fifteen years! It was great fun.” and “Saturday night kicked off my Mother’s Day in a special way! What a nice evening!”

Centennial Memorabilia mugs are decorated with the earliest picture we could find of the library, and have room for a great cup of coffee! The price is $10.00, and they make a great gift. Come get yours at the library.

Special Thanks to Kay and Mike Dougherty for their surprise gift of the scrumptious birthday cake we all enjoyed. Trustee Chair, Carolyn Asbury, was ‘blown away’ by their generosity when she stopped at the 7 South Bakery in Bernardston to pick up her order. Thank you!

Mohawk Trail Concerts Summer Festival

Vouchers for free tickets to the Friday and Saturday concerts (from June 28 to July 27) will be available to Leyden residents at Robertson Memorial Library. Posters and information about the concerts will also be found there.

WiredWest

WiredWest and Mass Broadband are working hard on all the details for the “last mile” to our homes. They are working with our legislators to get the $40 million grant pushed through the process. We will still need to raise another $60 million to do the whole project, which is where the support cards come in. It is crucial in showing potential funders that our towns are really serious about getting the best Wi-Fi to our homes. If you can’t remember whether you have filled out a card, try it on wiredwest.net. I will be happy to do it for you if you call me at 774-5922. I am so proud of the fact that Leyden has one of the best response rates, but we need it to be even better.

I am also asking some of you to think about helping me form an IT committee for Leyden. As we move into better and better access, it might be good to have some knowledgeable people who could answer questions about networking, security, cloud storage, and levels of service we might want. There will be so many options we have not had before—exciting and a bit daunting at the same time. If you think you might be interested, please give me a call.
—Sheila Hourihan, 774-5922

Council on Aging

June 13th at 12:00 NOON John Porcino, Storyteller-Musician

The Cultural Council has funded a delightful performer, John Porcino, who for almost 30 years has been weaving stories, songs and music that tickle life's funny bone, touch the heart and give a little boost to our own hero's journey. Kindled from the flickering flames of story, song and music, his beloved programs are humorous, tender, and hopeful sparks from the fire of life. This program will be held in the Town Hall, and all residents are welcome. A light buffet lunch will be provided. Please join us. (This programs concludes the year.)

The Leyden Council on Aging is dedicated to providing programs that support healthy and independent living for local seniors and is funded and supported by the Massachusetts Executive Office of Elder Affairs. Their funding allows the COA to offer delicious meals and interesting programs and to help support the newsletter and more.

Todd is a full-time employee of an investment firm, and he wants to make it clear that his odyssey is no drunken binge. He observes strict rules. If he is visiting more than one or two places, he will travel with a designated driver. Someone from the town has to be present, and he has to have a photograph to prove he was there. He will not drink on public property or violate any other laws. When he is offered cash from patrons in pubs, he has them give the money to the proprietor, who writes out a check to Dana-Farber.

Although Dana Farber can't directly support Todd, they are no stranger to unusual fund-raising tactics. Pigeon races, a zucchini festival, and a tour of baseball stadiums are among the more exotic ways people have raised funds for the institute, said Molly McHale, Dana-Farber spokesperson. "It is inspiring when people take initiative to raise money to support cancer research and care," she said. "Todd's very creative approach isn't one that we would undertake ourselves, but we are grateful for his efforts, and wish him great success." (Boston Globe)

Come on out to Angels' Rest, 63 North County Road, from 5 to 7 PM on June 14th, sample Lefty's beer. You're invited (not required) to bring a simple snack to share with your neighbors. Angels' Rest will provide non-alcoholic drinks and some yummy snacks. No donation is too small, and if you can't come, you can send a donation made out to Dana-Farber to Angels' Rest (01337). Leyden may have been an unknown to Todd up to now, but let's give him a Leyden welcome to remember!

You can find out more about the Mass Beer Tour and track Todd's progress at <http://www.351samadams.com>.
