

Office of Local and Regional Health (OLRH)

Department of Public Health

Resources for well owners

During a drought, wells and surface water bodies can drop to low levels because there is less water to draw from the ground. Your water supply could likely be affected if the drought continues. Learn more about how private well owners can conserve water and make an impact on your own water supply as well as the community's water supply.

- Information for Private Well Owners during a Drought | MassDEP
- FAQs - Private Wells | MassDEP
- Private Wells | MassDEP